GLENDAL CITY PARK ONCE AN EYESORE, IS NOW A BEAUTY SPOT

GLENDAL, April 8.—The Glendale city park under the able care of Mr. Butler, landscape gardener, is fast becoming a place of pride to the citizens of the town. The lawn is well kept and trees and shrubs are in the best condition possible. The new building in the center around the flagpole adds to the beauty of the park. Many who remember the park as an idling and loafing place for Mexicans and I Wont Workers, littered with waste paper, grass knee-high and leaves and branches of the trees scattered about, cannot help remark about its present good condition.

Carrick Goes South
A. A. Carrick left yesterday with the valley boosters on the Borderland excursion. With Mr. Carrick and Mr. Davis on the train, no doubt Glendale will be extensively advertised.

S. S. Rooms Moved
Sunday school of the First M. E. church will be held in the Sunday school rooms, which have been moved to the temporary location near the Woman's club.

High School Notes
Della Morton, a member of the senior class, left last Saturday for her home in Kansas. Her classmates very much regret losing this popular class member.

The debate between Glendale and the Flagstaff Normal was held at Tucson Saturday. Glendale is the proud winner. Last Monday, when the debaters returned, we felt that it was an occasion to celebrate. Assembly was called the third period in the morning and Paul Graham, one of the debaters, gave us a very interesting account of their trip to Tucson. The next debate will be held between Douglas and Glendale and will decide the state championship.

This successful work is due to the untiring work and concentrated efforts of the debaters, Webb Thompson and Paul Graham, and the coach, Miss Thompson.

The baseball game which was to be played last Tuesday evening between Chandler and Glendale has been postponed for one week.

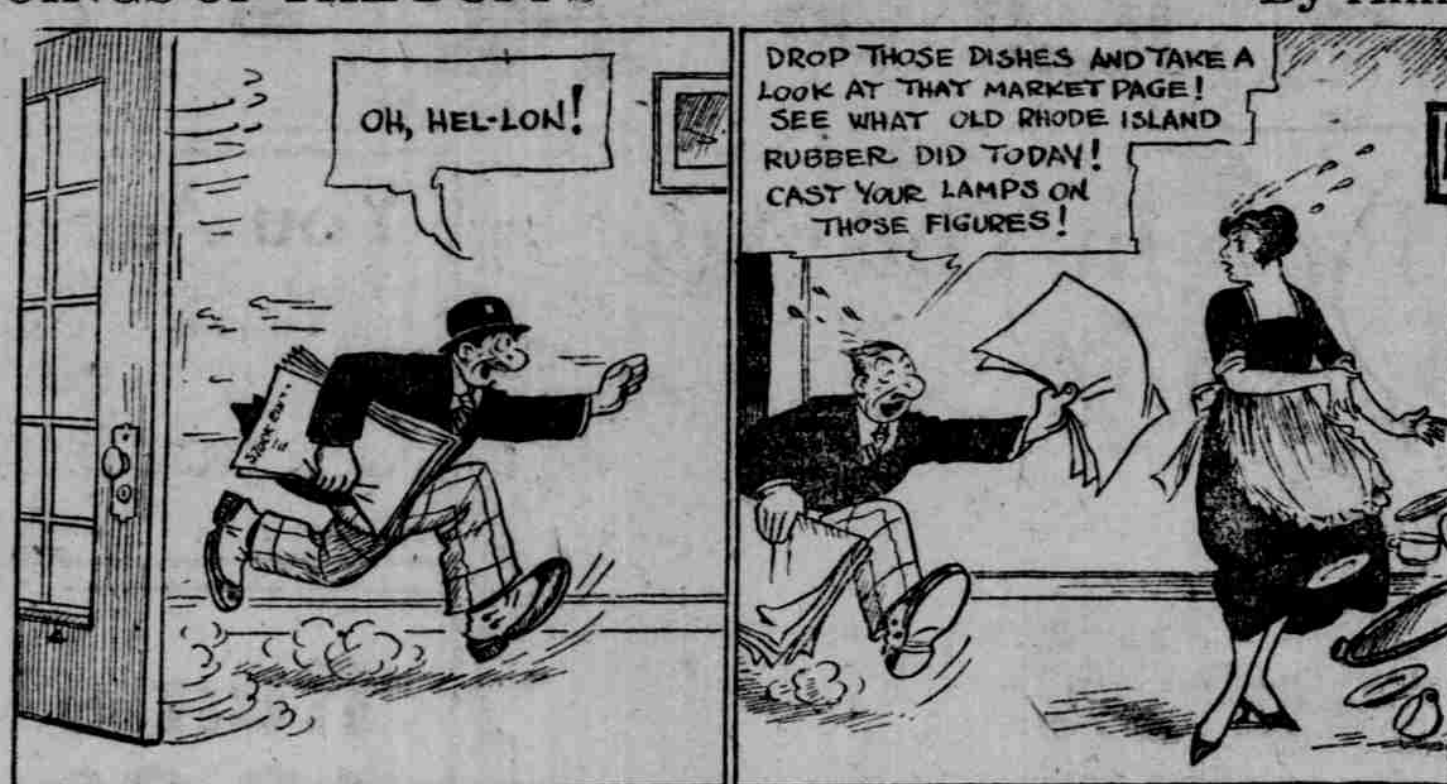

The Glendale high school ball team went over to Mesa last week with the avowed intention of wiping up the Mesa team. Much to their disgust the final score stood 7 to 8 in favor of Mesa. No reason can be given for this defeat, for there was no excuse.

The lineup was as follows:
Addington, c.; Brooks, p.; Akim, 1b.; Windes, 2b.; Etter, 3b.; Barkley, 1b.; Jones, cf.; Thompson, rf.

Brooks pitched four innings and Thompson took his place for the rest of the game.

One or two errors at critical periods of the game gave Mesa the lead in 2 runs, which Glendale was unsuccessful in overcoming, although Windes brought in one run, leaving the score 7 to 8.

The senior class observed the Skip day on April 8.

As the class of '20 started the custom, it was a real April fool to the hard working pupils left behind. The day was spent at Echo Canyon in climbing mountains. Miss Belden acted as chaperone.

Friday evening, April 2, the Campfire girls entertained several of their friends at the home of Misses Freeland and Price.

A yawn, a sigh, a dreamy expression. What does it look like? Spring fever, of course. How tiresome school life is, and won't it be fun when the good old swimming days come again? The air just feels like fishing parties and oh, how the birds sing outside.

How do you expect one to study? That's the way we all feel these days. It's just spring fever, very contagious, but never fatal.

five occasion were fortunate, as the crowd began arriving early, and by 9 o'clock the hall was a crowded merry maze of joyous frolicers.

"The Woman in Room 13"
One of the most notable stage successes of the past theatrical season, "The Woman in Room 13," adapted for the screen by Goldwyn, with Pauline Frederick as the star, will be shown in Phoenix in the near future. "The Woman in Room 13" was originally produced by Al Woods and received unanimous praise from dramatic critics. For many months it did an S. R. O. business, first at the Booth theater, New York, where it opened January, 1919, and later at the Republic theater, a house that was selected because of its large seating capacity.

"Haunted Spooks"
Harold Lloyd's latest and greatest comedy, the first of his $100,000 special laugh maker that is making Phoenixians forget their troubles, and it is the best thing Lloyd has ever done. With it as the other feature of the program the Columbia offers "This Here Stuff," in which the hero who doesn't want to be a hero is made one against his will by force of circumstance.

Tomorrow afternoon the Columbia will feature a special children's matinee, to which most of the kiddies of Phoenix will come to make merry over the misadventures of the girl and the boy and the ghosts in "Haunted Spooks."

Augmenting numbers of the double program are the Gaumont News and the Ford Wix, rounding out a perfect bill. Special music by the Columbia orchestra is included in every performance.

Gus Hill's Minstrels Coming
The famous Gus Hill's Minstrels, now recognized as the best show of its kind now currying public approval, will be the next attraction at the Elks theater, commencing Thursday, April 15, with the customary matinee. The company is a large one and includes the dean of all blackface comedians, George Wilson. Mr. Wilson has an entirely new monologue this season and is bound to add to his present host of admirers who recognize him as the most popular minstrel now doing Ethiopian comedy. The big show is brand new in every department—new songs, new bits, new jokes, new features, novelties and other ingredients which have made this production the most discussed offering on the road. That inimitable genius of burnt cork frolic and mirth James Gorman, has introduced several innovations which are sure to be the talk of the town. There will be a monster street parade and musical demonstration by the company's own band of 49 pieces.

the movement, the citizens of this state who are friendly to the churches and realize the good they propose to accomplish through this campaign, will be asked by members of the committee to assist in the cause. The citizens' division quota for this movement in Arizona is $125,000. The quota by counties will be announced in the near future.

DIAMONDS IN AFRICAN RIVER
Deep in the Vaal river, in South Africa, are diamonds. To get them a device on the diving bell principle is to be employed, having a tubular shaft and air lock, the South African Mining and Engineering Journal says. The device is the invention of Fabian M. Cox and that it consists of two pontoons, rigidly connected by decks, between which a roomy caisson or diving bell is sunk to the river bed. A tubular shaft joins the caisson to a chamber above the water level, and the whole is air locked. To keep the caisson submerged it is weighted with iron ballast, and the chamber above the water level has a concentric tank filled with water, which can be adjusted to carry the necessary weight—New York Engineering and Mining Journal.

AMUSEMENTS

Victor Moore at the Hip
For a two days' stay, starting today, Victor Moore comes to the Hip to present his "Paramount picture—The Clown." This clever boy is in this picture cast for the role of a circus clown—rough, uncouth in his way—but a man in his heart—a characteristic proven when he sacrifices himself to save the honor of the daughter of his benefactor. The whole soiled sacrifice which the clown makes is misunderstood by the benefactor, and he suffers the unjust censure rather than reveal the true condition, an act which brings everlasting gratitude to the heart of the girl. But the clown is forced to make another and more trying sacrifice when he gives up the girl he loves when he realizes that her heart belongs to another. The added attraction is the Burton Holmes travelogue.

"In Honor's Web" at the Lamara
Henry T. Morey is the Lamara attraction for the last two days of the week, starting today, bringing Vita-
